Long-term acute-care hospital

AcuityHealthcare is developing a long-term acute-care hospital in the heart of the San Antonio Medical Center. The Acuity Hospital of South Texas will provide specialized care for patients who require extended hospital stays and will feature 40 private patient rooms and employ about 250 health-care professionals.

The new hospital will be in a three-story building that will be constructed on the Christus Santa Rosa

Hospital, Medical Center Campus. The facility will cover almost 70,000 square feet.

Based in Austin, AcuityHealthcare is a privately owned company that specializes in facilities that provide long-term acute care. Acuity's long-term care wing will be on the third floor and portions of the first floor.
